

BULLETIN BOARD POLICY

The bulletin board located in the Canal Street hall is provided for the purpose of displaying public service notices of cultural, educational, informational, recreational and civic interest to the community.

All notices must be submitted at the circulation desk. If approved by management the notices will be posted by authorized library personnel only. Notices posted by the public will be removed.

The bulletin board is not to be used for advertising or commercial purposes.

All notices must contain the name of the sponsoring agency, as well as the address and telephone number of the sponsoring agency or authorized representative.

Display time is limited to one month.

Notices must be informational in character, but not promoting any specific point of view (political, religious, or otherwise).

The posting of a notice does not represent endorsement of either the organization or the project by the Ellenville Public Library & Museum. Space is made available as a public service only.

The Ellenville Public Library & Museum accepts no responsibility for loss or damage to any item accepted for posting.

Objections to the posting or non-posting of a particular notice must be referred to the Board of Trustees.
